

Private Schools (K-12)

Airman & Family Readiness Center

Lackland AFB, Texas

San Antonio has a rich heritage in the private school sector-particularly in the area of parochial schools and military academies. The area's earliest schools were established by Catholic missionaries in the late 17th and 18th centuries. Today, these early missions-many of which are still standing (including the Alamo)-are a favorite stop for tourists. The Alamo city still abounds in Catholic based primary and secondary schools, colleges and universities. Likewise, the area's rich military history from frontier forts to the first military aircraft installation (1910) to the school of aerospace medicine lead to the establishment of military prep schools. While this group, today, is not as prominent as the parochial school system, the roots run very deep.

There are hundreds of private/parochial primary schools in Bexar County. There are, for example, 32 Catholic elementary schools and 6 Montessori schools. The following list of private and parochial schools is by no means exhaustive but does serve to illustrate the breadth of private primary/secondary education available in San Antonio. Inclusion in this list should not be taken as an endorsement of these schools over others not listed.
